

REBELS PROGRESSING
IN MOVE ON TAMPICO

FOREIGNERS REMOVED FROM
TAMPICO FOR PROTECTION
BY AMERICANS.

BATTLESHIPS IN PORT

Hamburg-American Liner Taking Refugees on Board—Constitutionalists in Good Position.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Official reports from Rear Admiral Fletcher to the navy department today said the constitutionalists were making progress in their attack on Tampico and that Americans and all other foreigners had been removed to a neutral zone for protection of American lives.
Thus far no foreigners have been injured.

Non-Combatants Concentrated.
The dispatches say the non-combatants have been concentrated at a point near the water front where they are under the protection of the guns of the scout cruiser Chesler and the gun boats Wheeling and Tacoma. The battleships Rhode Island and Michigan are further out.

The fighting has been going on
since yesterday and from the harbor
the American naval officers have observed that strategically the constitutionalists seem to have the better position and are making headway. A great deal of the constitutionalist general that Americans leave was acted upon at once.

Take on Refugees.
Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 11.—Captain Rantan of the Hamburg-American liner Kron Princessa Cecilie called to the head office of the company here today that his vessel was taking refugees on board at the Mexican port of Tampico, where fighting between rebels and federals began yesterday.

FATHER OF SCHMIDT
ENTIRELY IGNORED

Prisoner Refuses to Receive Aged Parent Who Weeps in Courtroom—Would See Sister.

New York, Dec. 10.—The aged father of Hans Schmidt, who came from Germany to help his son, now on trial
for the murder of Anna Ammeier, went in the court room today when Hans Schmidt was brought in. When the elder Schmidt called at the Tombs prison today the prisoner would not receive him. Hans, however, said he would like to talk with his sister, who accompanied her father from the family home in Germany and it was said that she might be allowed to visit him later in the day. The prisoner's father was in the court room
when the trial was resumed. After going at his son a few minutes, he walked out with tears rolling down
his cheeks.

The prosecution continued the presentation of evidence to show that Hans Schmidt killed the girl, cut up her body, and threw it in the Hudson river, he followed a carefully premeditated plan and acted in a way that proved him sane.

GERAGHTY DISQUALIFIED FOR ALDERMAN'S SEAT
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Woburn, Mass., Dec. 11.—Because he has lived here only six months
"Jack" Geraghty, who was married to Julia French of Newport after arrival here a few years ago, cannot serve as alderman. Geraghty was elected last Tuesday, but city officials have discovered a clause in the city charter limiting membership on the board of aldermen to persons who have not resided here more than a year.

FIREMEN PREVENT PANIC
IN A ST. LOUIS HOTEL
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Louis, Dec. 11.—Firemen
vented a panic when the La Salle fire toll caught fire here today by telling those who rushed to the windows to take their time and sit down stairs.
Most of the guests obeyed.

PRESIDENT FIGHTS COLD; KEEPS TO HIS ROOM TODAY
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—President

HITS GOVERNMENT; SHUT OUT OF ARMY

Major Cassius E. Gillette, a former army engineer who uncovered the harbor frauds at Savannah several years ago and gave up his commission in the army to fight grafters in Philadelphia, is in the United States
on a campaign of "education on the

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, Dec. 11.—An attempt was made today by a Dutch store keeper named Nussun to assassinate Sir Lionel Phillips, the leading gold mining magnate of South Africa. Three shots were fired at him. One bullet lodged in his neck and another in one of his thighs.
His condition is declared to be not serious. The would-be assassin was arrested.

The attempt was made while he was walking on Commissioner street. The crime is supposed to have been actuated by revenge for the loss of a recent suit against the mining group
with which Sir Lionel is connected.

POLITICAL BACTERIA
OF CITIES MENACING

Worst Disease in Nation, Says D. F.
McClure of Michigan State Board of Health.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Lansing, Mich., Dec. 11.—"The political bacteria of our modern cities
is the worst disease menacing the nation," declared D. F. McClure, assistant secretary of the state board of health, in a remarkable interview on the "Twentieth Century City," published here today. McClure pleaded for the elimination of partisan politics in municipal government and for the creation of higher sanitary and civic ideals.

"The Twentieth century is here,
but not the twentieth century city,
although the latter is on the way and will arrive," McClure said. "This city is a matter of evolution."

"Improvements on municipal governments are difficult and slow to establish owing to political unfitness of leadership, foreign elements unused
to a liberty they use as license, and a slow sanitary and civic sentiment."

"A hundred years ago the United States had only six cities of 8,000 inhabitants or more. We now have between four and five hundred cities of 8,000 or more population. A hundred years ago three per cent of the population lived in cities whereas now 35 per cent live in cities. We are a nation of cities. The cities color our state and national strength. The city has been called the grave of the physician of our race. As a rule, the denser
the population, the higher the death rate. The average number of deaths
for rural districts of the United States is about 12 in a year, out of a 1,000 population, while the average for the city is about 18 out of every 1,000 population. It has been fully demonstrated that scientific sanitation greatly reduces the death rate."

"Our political development in the United States has been along nationalist and state lines rather than municipal, and it is so yet. It is in the city that our relations are the closest and most complicated; it is there that the maladjustments of society create the worst friction; it is in the city, therefore, that the well developed social conscience and civic morality should lead citizens to select incorruptible
officials instead of divorcees, gamblers, schemers, and prize-fighters. The nation is composed of municipalities. It is the worst disease menacing the nation."

"The twentieth century city must possess two laws fundamental to its growth and government; and these are the laws of service and the law
of sacrifice."

OFFICERS ELECTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rhinelander, Dec. 11.—The forty-second annual session of the Wisconsin
State Grange is being held here
this week, and there is an attendance
from nearly every county.

The election last night resulted as follows: Master, H. M. Culbertson; Medina, Overseer, William Manning;
Appleton, Lecturer, Emma Wilde;
Rhinelander, Steward, P. T. Gillett;
Antigo, Assistant Steward, Armand
Kling; Oniro, Lady Assistant Steward,
Jessie Dwyer; Beaver, Clerk, Mrs. C.
Powers; Beloit, Secretary, George
Deves; Tomahawk Lake, Treasurer,
P. T. Cross; Allendale, Gate-keeper,
A. K. Rink; Rhinelander, Pomona, Mrs.
Kathleen Antigo; Florence, Mrs. C.
Garlick; Berlin, Secs., Mrs. S. S.
Macintosh, Tomahawk Lake; Executive committee for three years, J. H.
Howe, Antigo.

Resolutions were adopted urging
the work to rural schools and substituting practical education for theoretical work.

Antigo seems to lead for the next convention.

and from Civil Service Reform Associations, consumed the opening sessions of the twenty-third annual meeting of the National Civil Service Reform League which convened here today for a two days' convention at the Hotel Vendue. Representatives from nearly every state in the union were present when the meeting was called to order. Following the morning session a luncheon was tendered the delegates by the Massachusetts Women's Auxiliary, after which Miss Marion C.
Nichols, secretary of the Bay State organization, gave a lantern lecture.
Governor Simon B. Eliot of Connecticut will be the principal speaker
at this evening's session over which President Lowell of Harvard will preside.

FAVORS INSURANCE AGAINST LOSSES IN
BOGUS INVESTMENT

President of Travellers' Insurance
Company Believes Credulous
Should Have Protection.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 11.—Insurance against get-rich-quick promoters and against designing stock and bond
need for convincing policy proceeds
after they have been paid over to widows, orphans, and other beneficiaries
were urged by President Sylvester C.
Dunham of the Travellers' Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut, in an address today at the annual convention here of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

"Beneficiaries of life policies are usually persons of limited financial experience and the investment of money by an inexperienced person
and indeed by some not so inexperienced is not a wise thing and a successful task," said Mr. Dunham.

"How to make investments that will
with the greatest certainty and security meet the designs of the insurer in providing for the continued support
of those dependent on him is the next important step in life insurance. One of the most useful of several recent plans is one by which the company becomes bound to pay a monthly
sum to the beneficiary for a stated
term of years."

Widespread adoption of group insurance would materially reduce the number of women and children annually forced into poverty, in the opinion of W. A. Day, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society
of New York, in an address today
before the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Mr. Day so asserted, describing this latest form of insurance as a phase of the economic and social tendencies of the day.

Disapprove of Borrowing.
Arthur E. Childs of Boston, president of the Columbian National Life Insurance company, urged the Association of Life Insurance Presidents
today to take prompt steps to advocate the public not to borrow on its life insurance. Such loans had increased from 34 per cent of the reserve funds of American companies
in 1888 to 16 per cent in 1912, he said,
and they would probably approach 18
per cent this year.

Fifteen Billion Insurance.
Fifteen billion dollars of life insurance protection was represented today at the convention. Annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Former President Taft was the chief speaker at the afternoon session.

MRS. YOUNG OFFERED MILWAUKEE POSITION
Committee Appointed by School Board to Obtain Services of Chicago Woman to Head
Milwaukee Schools.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Dec. 11.—A movement was begun here today by citizens and members of the city school board to get Mrs. Ella Young, former superintendent of schools in Chicago,
to assume the same position in Milwaukee.

There has been a vacancy in the position in Milwaukee for some time
owing to the resignation of Carroll G.
Pearse, and the inability of the school
board of directors to decide on a successor. There have been several applications for the position, but now
the talk has turned largely to Mrs.
Young.

Mrs. Young has not been given a definite offer, but it is said that Chairman S. C. Cuyahoga county board of directors and all of the women
members are in favor of the Chicago woman for the place.

It is said that a committee will go to Chicago this week to determine whether or not Mrs. Ella Young will consider the Milwaukee job.

CLUB WOMEN ENLIST

Cleveland and Cuyahoga County
Women's Club Members Con-

Apparel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 11.—Cleveland and Cuyahoga county women
club members are today being enlisted in a war against the present day
mode of feminine wearing apparel.
Prevailing styles were attacked last night at a convention of the county
clubs. It was resolved that a resolution was adopted which concluded:

"Resolved, That we condemn all transparent wearing apparel or any other kind which unduly exposes the form or figure of women, and take a stand for simplicity and modesty
which are expressions of character in dress."

The Federation of Women's Clubs
and the Cleveland Mothers' Congress
are contemplating joining the movement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Freeport, Sierra Leone, West Af-

ished today when a terrific tornado
slew twenty canoes with some four hundred natives on board out to sea.
The cable ship Sentinel rescued 136
of them, but no trace of the remainder was found. The storm swept the town and port and did much damage.

KING ALPHONSO INTERESTED IN REPORTS OF VISIT
Paris, Dec. 11.—King Alphonso of Spain is taking great interest in what the reporters write about his visit here. While walking this morning with two members of his staff he chatted occasionally with the correspondent who had accompanied the party
and in one case himself revised a report on dispatch, correcting some small details.

Queen Victoria spent this morning
in the department stores making

COMPARE FAVORABLY
WITH HUMAN BEINGS

Speaker at Vivisection Congress Believes Monkeys and Dogs Have Been Underestimated.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—"Vivisection
in the hands of those without sympathy will always be abused; will always be what it is today, largely a pastime
and a hobby," said Prof. J. Howard Moore of the Crane Technical High school, Chicago, in addressing the International Anti-Vivisection Congress
here today.

"Vivisection rests on tradition,"
said Prof. Moore. "The favorite science of those who practice is that a thousand dogs or monkeys or guinea pigs are of less consequence than one human being. No one would ever think of such a preposterous disparity
today if he were left free to look at things as they are uncorrupted by tradition."

"Any one who has ever associated with dogs or monkeys long enough
and intimately enough to really know them, knows that they compare very favorably with human beings in their powers of feeling and in their ability to keep out of the what little there is in it. Dogs like people when separated from those they love
about as often as human beings do if not oftener."

"Away with the fiction that human life has value and sanctity of its own. It is a product of human concise pure and simple. It has absolutely no foundation in fact. The human species is not distinctive."

GUERRILLA WARFARE
OF STRIKERS ENDS

Force of Deputy Sheriffs Invade Several Towns and Make Thirty-nine Arrests.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Calumet, Mich., Dec. 11.—Guerrilla warfare which raged in the south
range district of the copper miners'
strike zone, was ended today when a force of deputy sheriffs invaded several towns there and made thirty-nine arrests. The only person injured was Timothy Driscoll, a deputy sheriff,
who was shot and seriously wounded
when he and other officers attempted
to force an entrance into a union hall.
The public this morning centered around the hall of the Western Federation of Miners in the town of South Range. Here Driscoll was shot and several arrests made. Henry Kaski, a striker, was specifically charged with wounding the officers,
and he is said by a confession to have implied two other members of the union. Twenty-three rifles and 150 rounds of ammunition were found in the hall and confiscated. On two prisoners taken in another neighborhood of the range, 240 rounds of ammunition were confiscated.

The district quieted rapidly when a full force of deputies reinforced by volunteers from the Citizens' Alliance
was rushed to the range on two special trains and automobiles.

CHICAGO BASKETBALL TEAM
IN TRAINING UNDER COACH
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Dec. 11.—With his squad considerably trained and "understandable" eliminated, Coach "Pat"
Page has opened his basketball training season this week and the U. C.
team is already taking form. A percentage of the football players, many of whom are basketball candidates,
delayed the start of the training
season but Page hopes to be able to "get a line" on his recruits with-
in a week at least.

Up to the present time Norrman
and Stevenson seem to be the favorites
at forward. Des Jardien of football fame, is making good at center and Holander and Baumgardner as guards.
Holander is considered a possibility as captain. The selection of a pilot will be made this week.

"Look!
Here I Am!"
That is substantially the message of each and every advertisement in this newspaper today.

"Here I am—
"Look me over and see for yourself."
That's the request the merchandise makes to you through the types.

There is something for every need—something wanted by somebody.

Is there another thing on this earth with such a wonderful
and universal appeal as advertising?

Is there any feature in this newspaper that is really more full of human interest than the messages of commerce?

It's an education in itself to read the advertising—an education in what is best in this busy
old world of ours.

VESUVIUS AWAKENING
FOR ERUPTION SAYS
ITALIAN SCIENTIST

Observations Show Growing State of Activity—Investigators Descend
Into Crater.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Naples, Italy, Dec. 11.—Mount Ve-suvius is rapidly reawakening to another of its periodic eruptions which have made it the dominating feature
at the base of the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum have never failed to exact a heavy toll of life and property.
Within the past six months scientific expeditions made in the crater
by French, Italian and German scientists have left no doubt as to the growing state of activity. The last and most arduous of these observations were made recently when Professor Mialladrà of the Vesuvius Observatory, and Professors Max Stollz
and Paul Jacob, two Munich scientists, descended into the crater for a distance of 370 meters, the greatest depth ever reached by human beings
in the crater of any volcano. The result of the observations then made
have been prepared by Professor Mialladrà and are as follows:

BY PROFESSOR ALESSANDRO MIALADRÀ.
(Director of the Mount Vesuvius Observatory.)

The history of Mount Vesuvius
which has been accurately
compiled from the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum down show that periods of activity have taken place through all the centuries. The most recent regular intervals. The last eruption occurred in 1907. Another one is not now only due but from March of the present year we have been able to detect evidences of the gradual and certain reawakening of the volcano.

In the descent into the crater which we made recently, we followed the same route which I took in April last year. The first exploration of the interior of the crater of Vesuvius ever made. The crater now has a depth of 300 meters and we reached the bottom of this after more than an hour's work. The descent was by means of ropes such as are used in mountain climbing.

The bottom of the crater resembles
very much a huge platform covered with incandescent rocks and also perforated with fumaroles from which gases and vapors are always being expelled. It was in this platform, following my first descent into the crater
last year, that I found unmistakable signs of the awakening of the volcano. A huge opening was later found. It had a circumference of 160 meters and a depth of 70. In the formation of the crater and in the fire which poured out after the eruption of 1868, I had planned at the bottom of the crater on the occasion of my first descent, was completely destroyed.

This opening took place on May 10
and for a month afterwards there was not only a constant pouring forth of gases and vapors but also of fire
which at times was emitted in giantic blasts of an appalling nature. On August 3, however, there was a new shaking and the opening was closed
by which the gases and fire were coming from the inner regions of the volcano and so on the occasion of our last descent we were obliged to stop in the crater at a depth of 100 meters from the bottom of the crater. The temperature of the air at the bottom of the crater was 80 degrees centigrade.
This intense heat shows the certain reawakening of the entire volcano.

In descent to the top of the crater
we made without incident and the observations we made demonstrated again most clearly the steady progress toward reactivity. As I stated above, the channel leading from the crater into the deep regions of the volcano has evidently been temporarily choked by the sinking and
falling in of portions along its course.
However, this channel is again
free as it was in June and July and is very likely that the eruption will then take place.

CIVIC FEDERATION
MEETING IS OPENED

Workmen's Compensation One
of Several Topics Scheduled for Discussion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Dec. 11.—Workmen's compensation, pure food and drugs,
contamination and mediation laws, wa-
fare work, regulation of municipal utilities, and regulation of industrial corporations, were some of the important topics scheduled for discussion at the fourteenth annual meeting of the National Civic Federation which convened today at the Hotel Astor, with delegates present from practically every city of size in the United States. The meeting was opened shortly after the convention opened today that one whole session be devoted to the Woman's Department because of its rapid growth as a part of the federation, and in view of the consistently steady gain of the woman suffrage cause throughout the United States. The Woman's Department
planned to take up in detail the advancement of the woman's suffrage
cause in Massachusetts, New York,
New Jersey, Washington and Rhode Island, where it was declared today
the franchise soon will be granted to

The Gazette Travel Bureau is a Much Used Institution

Peculiar requests come to the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for information regarding travel detail as to routes, transportation lines, etc.
A day or two ago a gentleman came in from the southern part of the country and said he wanted to go to Brazil, S. A. He had no particular point in mind, just so he could get down to the Eastern coast of Brazil, and after going over the various railroad catalogues and books of information he found that he would prefer to go to Argentina, so that he has been supplied with complete information as to how to get to that point, either from New York or New Orleans. The gentleman in question expects to cross the Argentine Republic by railroad to the western coast & investigate conditions in those far off countries. The next day after our foreign traveler called, a gentleman came in to find out the best way to get to Houston, Texas, whether to go by Kansas City or St. Louis.
Another man wanted information as to travel to the state of Washington. Another man desired information about Southern Florida. This BUREAU is able to supply this information and to place in the hands of the inquirer not only material about the best way to go, but complete detail about rates, etc., free of cost.

GOLF CLUB EEELECTS HARRIS PRESIDENT

F. S. BAINES CHOSEN VICE-PRESIDENT AT ANNUAL MEETING LAST EVENING.

WILL IMPROVE LINKS

Voluntary Subscriptions Received for Purpose of Placing Traps and Bunkers—Campaign for New Members.

Arthur J. Harris was unanimously elected club president at the annual meeting held last evening at the Grand Hotel, following a dinner served to some twenty members at seven o'clock. F. S. Baines was named vice-president, C. H. Gage and H. S. Haggart were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively, and five directors were chosen: Rev. J. C. Hager, Harry McManis, H. H. Bissell, Stanley D. Tallman and Harvey Wheelock.

The matter of improving the links by installing additional bunkers and traps was the subject of considerable discussion and the members seemed rather evenly divided between those who believed that the course is difficult enough as it now is and those who thought that the standard of golf played by the members could be considerably improved by additional handicaps were constructed. The motion of F. S. Baines that a voluntary subscription be taken up from the active members to secure a fund for the improvements, finally carried and a substantial sum was pledged before adjournment last evening. David Holmes motioned that an assessment be levied to pay off the debt was carried.

Financially the club is in a fairly prosperous condition, its present debt being far from burdensome. The reports of the secretary and treasurer indicated that the club's financial condition has been made in the club house equipment and that the handling of the fund had been at all times economical and for the best interests of the club. The balance now on hand in the treasury is sufficient to pay the taxes due in January.

The report of the house committee of which Miss Helen Jeffris was chairman, showed a total of $86.65 cleared in the dances and entertainments which have been enjoyed during the season. Of the total $47 were cleared in the affairs at the club house, and $39.65 was made from the Thanksgiving party. A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Jeffris and her committee for the unusual success in which affairs had been handled and it was voted to leave the expenditure of the money with the club after the usual custom. The committee in its report indicated that they would use the fund to purchase porch furniture for the club house.

The need of new members and the importance of making the country club more popular were matters which received a large amount of discussion. With the problem of new members came the question of an instructor and several suggestions along this line were offered. Wilson Lane pointed out that the club was unable to get an instructor as recommended by the directors name a committee of the better players who would be on hand on certain days to instruct new players. J. P. Baker suggested that foreign matches be arranged in which new and old players would be thrown together.

Francis Grant and several others urged the necessity of having attractions every week during the winter at the links. Weekly foursome matches with prizes of balls were recommended, also putting matches, and a series of plays for cups which might be purchased by directors, such as the president's secretary's and directors' cups. It was also urged that the ladies be encouraged in the use of the course and that junior members be offered inducements. These matters were left with the board of directors and the different committees.

As to the question of popularizing the club and increasing the membership, a motion picture was shown, a dramatic campaign during the coming season. H. P. Bliss voiced the sentiment of a number of the members when he declared that the club was new service to the community, and that whereas it should be enjoyed by at least a hundred men who could be interested in the game.
Dr. David Heaton, who will no longer be a member of the club this year, was called on for a few remarks. He balanced off the credit and debit sides of the golf game in his own case, pointing especially to the debt side with his peculiar brand of humor. The club will be sorry to lose Dr. Heaton who was one of the most enthusiastic players and a valuable worker for the club's welfare. He was assured that the gates would open for him at any time when he saw fit to return to Janesville and he promised in turn that the golf links would be one of the first places he would visit. The retiring president, H. P. Bliss, presided at the meeting last evening and outlined briefly the problems and accomplishments of the organization. Those who were present last evening are as follows: William H. Haggart, Wilson Lane, F. P. Lewis, F. S. Sheldon, F. A. Blackman, David Holmes, F. H. Haggart, F. S. Haines, Harold Schwartz, Leo Brownell, E. Haskins, Rev. J. C. Hager, J. P. Baker, A. J. Krotz, Dr. David Heaton, H. P. Bliss, J. L. Wilcox, H. E. McCoy, Francis Grant, Warren Wheelock, A. Schaller, J. P. Baker, Harry McManis, George Rink, Ed. Bennett, C. H. Gage, F. H. Farnsworth and H. H. Bliss.

ATTRACTIVE HAIR

Always Fascinates—Parisian Sage Makes Hair That is Dull, Faded or Thin, Abundant and Gloriously Radiant.

Every girl and woman, too, wants to be beautiful and attractive—it's her birthright—but unsightly, or thin and characterless hair destroys half the beauty of the most attractive face.

If your hair is not fascinating, is thinning out, full of dandruff, dry or if the scalp itches and burns, begin at once the use of Parisian Sage. It will double the beauty of the hair, cool and invigorate the scalp and the first application removes the dandruff. It is the hair tonic par excellence, containing the proper elements to supply hair needs and make the hair soft, wavy, lustrous and abundant.

Parisian Sage as sold by Smith Drug Co., in 50 cent bottles is pleasant and refreshing, daintily perfumed—neither greasy or sticky.

ADVENTISTS ACTIVE IN MISSION LABOR

Have Sent Out One Hundred and Fifty into Foreign Countries This Year—Seventy Sanitariums.

The following communication regarding the great activity of the Seventh-day Adventist church in foreign mission work and its surprising growth in the last decade is contributed by the Rev. W. L. Thurston, a former missionary in South America, who spoke at the last meeting of the Brotherhood of the Larch Methodist church.
"As the Seventh-day Adventist denomination is one of the sixty-two missionary societies operating missions in all parts of the world, and as there is a local church in every country holding regular services, I thought it might be of interest to the readers of the Gazette to have some facts and figures relative to the work of the denomination."
"The Seventh-day Adventists date from about 1845, but were not organized into a general conference, taking the world for its mission field, until 1863. At that time they had 3,500 members, and were publishing one paper and a few tracts and pamphlets, and the total amount of funds received that year for gospel work was $12,900. The membership, number of laborers, and the amount of funds were doubled every ten years for fifty years and from 1895 to 1905 the gain equaled that of the previous fifty years. Each decade marks greater advancement and the calls for help from other lands increase every year. The total membership given in the last annual report, December 31, 1912, not including children, was 114,266. Nearly every nation in the world is represented in this membership. They are organized into 3,400 churches, 129 conferences, 25 union conferences, 100 mission fields, and have 5,000 laborers devoting their time to gospel work. Thirty-seven publishing houses are operated by the denomination, publishing 127 papers, 100 tracts and pamphlets, 220 bound books in 75 languages. The output by these publishing houses for 1912 was $1,336,230.

At the line of medical missionary work 70 sanitariums are being operated employing 2,350 physicians and nurses. These institutions are training centers preparing workers for mission fields, in addition to 700 schools, academies and colleges where 1,400 teachers are employed having 24,000 students in training. The young people are continually being organized into missionary bands, and there are now 750 societies with a membership of 15,000. The total contributions by the denomination for the year 1912 was $2,702,199.02, or $23.66 per capita. The reports for the first half of this year show that the amount will be much larger this year.

"One hundred fifty missionaries have been sent out from the home field to other countries this year. The Adventists believe the world will be evangelized in this generation, and that the three-fold message of revelation, 14th chapter, is now due to the world and they are proclaiming it by voice and pen in 75 languages of the nations of the earth. Hasten ye, day and night, the kingdom of God, and the kingdom of heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him."

FORMER JANESVILLE WOMAN RECEIVES AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF WILSON-SAYRES WEDDING
Mrs. Helen M. Palmer of Lancaster, Wis., for many years a resident of this city, and who has a large circle of friends and acquaintances here, was one of the few Wisconsin residents to secure an announcement of the wedding of the late William H. Haggart and Mrs. Sayres at the White House weeks before last. Mrs. Palmer does beautiful needlework and she obeyed an impulse to send a pretty handmade handkerchief to the bride, for which she received the wedding announcement and a personal note from the bride's mother. Mrs. Palmer was a daughter of the late S. B. Sibley, one of the early pioneers of Janesville.

SCIENCE NOTES
The navy of Great Britain will be working during the next 18 months as if a giant hand were working for the next six months. The navy will be working for the next 12 months, and a super-dreadnaught of the latest type every 45 days for the next 18 months.

The Ambrose Channel in the New York Harbor, on which work has been going on since 1907, is now completed. It is a 40-foot channel, 2,000 feet wide, 1,000 feet long, and so perfectly lighted that the largest steamers may enter at night with absolute safety.

According to a conservative estimate, an ocean steamer of 100 feet beam, 500 feet length, and, let us say, 90,000 horsepower, no less than 20 per cent. of the horsepower, or about 18,000, would be consumed in overcoming head-wind resistance when the ship was steaming at 15 knots against a gale-gale.

While illuminating engineering has made great strides in this country of recent years it seems foreign countries have taken up the question of light more seriously than we have. They have had committees appointed by the government whose duties are to study the effects of good and bad light on the general health and report upon methods of bettering conditions. Apparently, it is the first step of the illumination that stands in the way of better lighting, and the authors of the paper have endeavored to show how easily and cheaply conditions can be bettered.

The largest ice cave in the world is in the Jackson Mountains, Alaska. It is one of a group of grotesque, discovered very long ago and not yet thoroughly explored. The ice cave, because of its unique character, has, however, been given more attention than the others. This latter is 6,500 feet long and there are some enormous and other-wise remarkable ice formations. It is a rare curiosity, indeed, when you are not making this cave and its contents a place only when a prolonged spell of warm rain penetrates into these depths, when the ice shows a slight tendency to melt. The entrance of one great hall with icy walls and ice domes covered with grotesque forms. One of these halls, for instance, known as Parsival Dome, is 200 feet in length, 250 feet in width and 110 feet in height, while it is notable for the remarkable formations, but the largest hall is known as King Arthur's Dome, which is 650 feet long, 350 feet wide and 100 feet high. There is an underground river of ice passing through the cave and at its foot a lake. Some rocks found in the river bear indications of having been brought down to these depths from the Central Alps.

STATE MAY BECOME PARTY IN LAWSUIT

STATE OFFICIALS CONCERNED IN MILWAUKEE STREET BRIDGE PATENT MATTER.

INTERESTED IN CASE

Attorney General Considers Possibility of Intervention Following Conference on Wednesday.

Attorney General Walter C. Owen is seriously considering the possibility of state intervention in the patent infringement case brought by D. C. Luth of Indianapolis against the Gould Construction company for alleged violation of patent rights in the construction of the Milwaukee street and Spring Brook bridges.

At a conference of city officials with A. G. Gould of the bridge company and with Attorney General Owen, John Koehn, chairman of the railroad commission, and W. O. Hotchkiss, secretary of the state highway commission, at Madison, Wednesday afternoon, all of the points at issue were carefully gone over and the situation clearly outlined.

As a result of the conference state officials were firmly of the opinion that the suit is one which vitally concerns the citizens and taxpayers of Wisconsin and that a decision against the complainant in the courts will mean a saving of thousands of dollars to the state and its citizens. Hundreds of concrete structures authorized by the state embody the same reinforcement principles as the local bridges.

Although Luth has brought suits all over the country claiming that his patents covering every conceivable method of reinforcing concrete and cement structures have been violated, this is the first case of the kind in Wisconsin. As the state highway and railroad commission are engaged in authorizing the construction of many cement bridges every year in which reinforcement is necessary, it is quite evident that if the Gould company is violating patent rights in constructing the Milwaukee street bridge, there are many cases in the state equally as flagrant.

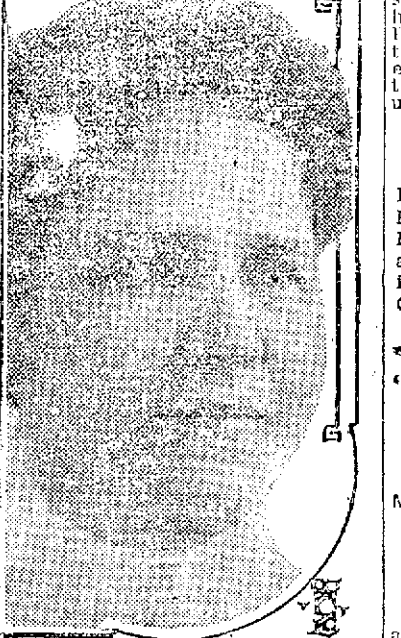

"It is all a question of proving prior use," said City Attorney Dougherty today in discussing the case, "and the state officials are confident that this can be done. The thing that prevents the state from taking up the fight in a more active manner is the fact that the attorney general has no funds at his disposal from which he can actually draw to secure the multitudes of depositions and evidence which will be required to continue the suit. Mr. Owen and the members of the two commissions are willing to contest the matter and want to see the question tried out to the last ditch."

The state of Iowa, where Luth has started extensive litigation, has appointed a committee to fight his contentions and has already secured a mass of information and evidence from every section of the country. Mr. Swanson, a Madison lawyer, who has recently been at Des Moines, is confident that the state attorneys general has no funds at his disposal from which he can actually draw to secure the multitudes of depositions and evidence which will be required to continue the suit. Mr. Owen and the members of the two commissions are willing to contest the matter and want to see the question tried out to the last ditch."

Although the city is not as yet definitely made a party to the suit, the mayor and other officers are deeply concerned in the matter and are anxious to have the state take up the case as it is clearly a problem of statewide importance. Insofar as the state railroad commission is concerned the plans of the city engineers for the building of the bridges, the state is also involved in the suit as much as the city. Mr. Gould is confident that the patents can be found invalid and wants both the city and state to cross the fight.

RED CROSS SEALS' ORIGIN EXPLAINED

First Used in Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade by Norwegians and Swedes in Year 1904.

Nearly $150,000 has been raised by Red Cross Christmas seals in the last five years, and yet many people do not know how this charity stamp idea originated.
Some of our grandmothers first played "post office" with stickers similar to Red Cross Christmas seals in 1862, when they conceived the idea of selling stamps at fairs for the benefit of the relief funds for the soldiers' hospitals in Brooklyn, Boston and elsewhere. Nearly $1,000,000 was raised in this way before 1865. After the war, the method of raising money was discontinued in this country for a generation, although it found vogue in Portugal, Switzerland, Austria, France, Spain, Denmark, Norway, Russia, Sweden and other European countries. There are now thousands of different types of charity stamps used in all parts of the world, as many as forty being used in Austria for children's hospitals alone.

Stamps or seals were first used to get money for the anti-tuberculosis crusade in Norway and Sweden in 1904. To Jacob Riis, the well-known social worker of New York, and to Miss Emily P. Bissell, the energetic secretary of the Delaware Red Cross, jointly belong the honor of originating our American Red Cross Christmas seal. In 1909, Mr. Riis' interest was aroused by the receipt of a Christmas tuberculosis stamp on a letter from Norway. He published an article about this queer-looking stamp in the "Outlook," and suggested some possible uses for it in this country. Miss Bissell at once saw an opportunity here and prepared a stamp, from the sale of which her society realized $2,000 for tuberculosis work. She was impressed with this success that she induced the American Red Cross to take up the sale in 1908 on a national basis. With very little organization and with hardly any attempt at careful advertising the sale that year brought in, nevertheless, over $125,000 for anti-tuberculosis work in various parts of the United States. In 1909, with more thorough organization, the sale was increased to $230,000; in 1910 to nearly $310,000; in 1911 to over $330,000, and over 400,000 seals, netting $160,000, were sold last year.

FREIGHT ENGINE BACKS OFF INTO PITS AT ROUNDHOUSE

Engine number 4013 caused considerable trouble at the roundhouse yesterday morning, the locomotive backing off into the turn-table pit, the rear wheels of the tender going over the edge. The engineer could apply the brakes to stop them from dropping into the pit. A switch engine was first hitched on, but failed to move the big freighter. Two other big engines were put to work and the trucks came out with a rush. Before the wrecking crew could stop they backed 4013 into the cinder pits, leaving the tender in a worse position than before. Train number 155 was delayed for three hours, engine 4001 making the run.

Freightmen report a big increase in stock shipments during the last two weeks, the trains during the first three days of the week having from seventy-five to a hundred cars, nearly half of them coming from the Mineral Point division. Stock shipments from the Janesville station are being made extra from Chicago was scheduled yesterday morning, the train being made up of stock empties.

Sport Snap Shots

John McGraw with the world touring Giants has met with some amusing experience and particularly in some of the small western towns where the Giants and White Sox were exhibiting. At almost every small town where the teams played there was sure to be at least one lanky rookie who would report to McGraw anxious to show his stuff and sign up for the coming season. As a rule, of course, the players showed nothing at all in the way of work in the hope that he might stumble across something worth while. A rule they carried with them a scrap book full of clippings from the home paper testifying to their baseball brilliance. One player in particular had been touted in the columns of the local want ad medium. He had an abundance of press notices that showed him to have a mighty arm and a powerful looking like school kids on the corner. It was clear after reading over the items he displayed that here was an unsung hero. McGraw gave him a try out at once. After the Giants' players had faced him at bat and had ruined all the windows in the vicinity, McGraw told the local phenom to go home. "How in the deuce did that cub ever get all the notices?" asked Nugsy, a native standing by. "Oh, he runs the paper," said the native.

It seems that the young lady who has agreed to become Percy McFarland's yoke-mate thinks very well of him. "WHAT AILS YALE?" QUESTION PUZZLING UPHOLDERS OF BLUE

Past Season Has Been Almost Unbroken Series of Defeats in All Kinds of Athletics.

By Hal Sheridan.
New York, Dec. 11.—What's the matter with Yale? If some one will whisper the answer to this question they might have a monument erected to them, if at the same time a solution of the problem was furnished.

Yale staggered through to the finish of the sporting year with a clean slate, said slate being one of defeats. In football, rowing and baseball, the team leading sports of the Blue cracked and was walloped by Harvard. They are building an immense stadium for Yale to play her football games in. It will seat 65,000 persons, but the new "bow" isn't going to win games, so far as any one has been able to figure.

The disaster which befell the Yale navy is well remembered. Swinging away on the English stroke with English equipment, Yale was swept from the river by the Crimson. Oarsmen. Then Harvard won the deciding baseball game from the crack Yale nine in New York by a score of 6 to 5. After rousing hopes to a high pitch by holding Princeton to a tie in the gridiron, the Blue crumpled before Harvard and the toe of Charles Brickley. There is a rumor that Yale won a chess tournament during the year, but that isn't being noticed at Yale.

Taking a look backward, it may be observed that it has been some time since Yale kicked through with very much to crow over. In 1907 the Blue defeated Harvard in the boat race. That was the last, as the Crimson shell has now slowed the way to the line for six consecutive years. Yale through that year with an 8 to 0 record won a football game from Princeton. The Blue kicked off the year since 1909. The Blue kicked off. Then came scoreless ties in 1910 and 1911. Last year Harvard won 29 to 0, and came back this year 15 to 6. This alone is enough to cause much puckering of brows at New Haven, as it is the first time in history that a Harvard eleven has downed Yale in two consecutive flings between the goal posts.

There is much talk and discussion of whether the English rowing system shall be thrown out of Yale, but the chances seem to be that the tea-drinking training and heaving of clumsy equipment will stick for at least another season. Something radical will have to be done in the navy, and a degree of something or other is in prospect in the football line. Yale is up against it. Seven of this year's football team will be lost by graduation. They are Captain Ketchum, Pendleton, Talbot, Marting, Ainsworth and Avery Wilson, who developed into one of the best quarterbacks of the year, and Carter, and are the best men in sight for 1914.

As for "Fair Harvard," it seems that as long as Percy Haughton sticks on the job here is bound to be a reasonable amount of football displayed around Cambridge. Haughton is a driver, and in picking a football team one of the most popular fighters that ever made history in the ring. Not only is he an exceptionally efficient boxer—Charles White, the veteran referee, says he's the equal of Joe Gang—but he is also a clean, healthy minded, modest young gentleman. Being in the fighting business, a great many will be eager to attribute to him all of the depraved traits of a drink or bug. Which is as unlike McGraw and as anything very well could be.

Jem Macre known in England as the "crack old man of the ring," died just about three years ago at the age of eighty. Until within the last ten years of his life he had been active in the ring and had perhaps the most remarkable fighting career of any man in the history of all who knew him and was often said to have been a "bullfight" and a "gentleman." And while in all his career as a heavyweight champion he could never be said to have shown the sign of the yellow, the truth is that while a younger Macre had often declared that he had no doubts in himself what might have developed into a prominent streak of yellow. And it was only through the most rigorous self-discipline that he was able to rid himself of this fear. Jem Macre was a talented violinist when a kid and his sensitive temperament and imaginative nature made him shy of violence and diffident about receiving punishment. In his early professional battles he would often be feared by the crowd for an apparent cowardice. Most of his opponents were larger men, but by developing never been seen in the ring before his time he was easily able to defeat them. With his progress at fast and clever boxing he gradually shook off his first timidity and developed into the greatest figure the ring has ever had. As he grew older in experience and ability he became almost savage in the ring and never knew the fear that had handicapped him in his first battles. In his title for many years and fought something over 500 fights, winning every one and retiring undefeated. A monument has been erected in England to Jem Macre and it's unlikely that there will ever be another like him.

looks for football players rather than college leaders and the blue bloods who can climb out of a hub of their family tree and shake down a steady away on the Mayflower for reference. Recalling the Harvard-Yale game, can you imagine a few years ago the name of O'Brien in a Harvard line-up? Answering you will say you cannot. O'Brien did not figure among our oldest families.

But Haughton doesn't spend his spare hours looking up social standings. He wants to know how much a man weighs, and if he is a football player that's enough. Pedigrees don't count with Percy.

Harvard will get away on the 1914 season minus only three of the year's regulars. They are the aforementioned O'Brien, end; Hitchcock, guard; and Capt. Storer, end. Brickley and his toe will be back. Mahan, who will draw much attention as a player, also will be on the job, and with Hardwick and the other experienced hands to start with, Yale should do the winning.

This has been a tough year on experts; those boys who sit down with miles of figures and past performances and let everyone know who is going to win a football or a baseball game before time is called. Their misfires have come rattling down through the year with amazing regularity. One of the favorite pastimes has been kicking over the old dope bucket and generally spilling the contents over the surrounding territory. The Navy was a 2 to 1 and 10 to 6 favorite over the Army. The West Pointers were willing to take a chance with forward passes and springing the unexpected smeared the Navy huller and yon over the Polo grounds.

Yale was picked to have an easy time with Colgate and Colgate licked the Blue. Then the system was switched and Princeton was picked to trample all over Yale. The Blue held the Tiger to a 3-3 tie. Between times Dartmouth proceeded to wallop Capt. Baker, huskies. It was all set and framed in the minds of the experts from Pennsylvania to push Cornell off the map, but it took the Ithacans to do the pushing, and Penn stood on the receiving end of the push. Packing the great Colgate, the Blue favored Dartmouth, but what the Indians did to the Big Green team is too sad to repeat.

Eight Had Surpassed Former Record at Eighteenth Hour This Morning—1,595 Miles Pedaled.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 11.—The eight leading teams in the six-day bicycle race were 3 miles, 2 laps ahead of the record at 8 o'clock this morning, the eighteenth hour. They had pedaled 1,595 miles, six laps. Five teams trailed only one lap behind, then came the Correy-Walker combination another lap back and finally the Kopsky-Peterson team. The leaders were: Root-McNair, Drobach-Halsted; Herri-Brocco; Hill-Ryan; Goulet-Pogler; Perchicot-Peterson; Magin-Lawrence and Collins-Waitt-Hour.

RUSK DEFEAT FORUM IN FOOTBALL MATCH

Using Many First String Players From Regular Squad, Lyceum Society Trim Forum—ites 42 to 6.

Because most of the first team regulars are members of the Rusk Lyceum Literary Society, is the real reason why the Forum eleven were unable to stop their opponents in the annual football struggle yesterday afternoon at the Drury Park field. Rusk eleven, together with the majority of the line-men, while the Forum had but three regulars at the most.

The game was interesting, because it was so one-sided. After the Rusk had secured seven touchdowns, the Forum came back, determined to upset things a little. Rusk received the ball on the Forum's ten yard line, and rucce through the entire Rusk eleven, not a brave attempt being made to tackle him, and he crossed the goal line, counting the only score for the Forum. The Rusk men were some what discouraged, but they couldn't help themselves, for the run was surely sensational.

The Rusk lineup changed somewhat as the game proceeded. In order to give all the Rusk players a chance and especially "Shrimp" Kennedy, the alterations were made at opportune times. Kennedy took up the position of fullback, and was very successful in gaining ground. He is but four feet and eleven inches high, but is a bear at the game.

Atwood contributed five touchdowns, Dalton one and Hemming one. Rusk counted for the Forum. The goal posts were taken down, so the attempts at goal could not be tried. Raymond Barnes refereed and umpired the contest, and Walter Williams acted the position of time.

The Rusk are happy to think they won the conflict, but societies will turn to basketball, where it is anticipated the old form of playing the best four out of seven games will be taken up again this year.

NAP RUCKER TO BE TRADED FOR RUBE

Nap Rucker (top) and Rube Marquard.

At the national league meeting in New York this week an effort will be made by the Giants to trade off Rube Marquard for some pitcher who will be equally as good as Rube and more popular with the fans. McGraw would like to get Nap Rucker of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who is regarded as one of the greatest southpaws in baseball's history. Brooklyn would make the trade upon the condition that the Giants throw in an extra player or two and some cash.

We are introduced to Nell as the sweetheart of Dago Mike, the leader of a gang of New York Apaches. She secures employment as a maid, reconnoiters the premises, and then notices her lover and his men. In trying to cover their tracks after the robbery, she is apprehended and sent to prison. Months pass. She comes out from behind the bars to find Mike's interest centered upon another woman. Joe Gilbert, an East-Side thug, who has always been attracted to the girl, attempts to protect her from the injustices of Dago Mike.

A series of bold robberies annoy the commissioner of police. Gilbert learns that the Dago's gang is responsible for them and he informs Nell of such, urging her to squeal on Mike as a means of revenge. He is successful in this. The police raid the house and Dago makes his getaway. Nell goes to the other woman and tells her that she is through with the life of the underworld. Nell is accused of treachery. Dago Mike comes on the scene, takes in the situation and separates the two women as they fight. His sweetheart tells him that Nell was the one who squealed. Mike draws his revolver and shoots Nell down. He is arrested and sentenced to twenty years. Nell comes out of the hospital, sick of her former associations' mode of life. The last we see of her is a Salvation Army lass preaching the gospel of clean life among the lower classes of New York.

WAR OR PEACE?
Germany is having its own troubles with the problem of government in Alsace. While France is not directly interested in the situation, yet it is watching with interest for it is not so many years ago that Alsace was one of its fairest possessions and some day it may be again. The Wall Street Journal sees something beyond the mere making of faces at each other on the part of France and Germany in the present situation. Quoting directly from that journal's editorial on the situation are found the following statements:
"Some great statesmen said, or ought to have said, that gratuitous assertion of military power is a confession of weakness. By the childish parade of unintelligent force in Alsace the militarist party in Germany has weakened a position hitherto not seriously questioned in the popular mind. In the face of Germany's industrial expansion in the past forty years, anything like military dictatorship is becoming unthinkable."
"It is noticeable that the storm center of war is no longer in the Near or the Far East, or even in Mexico. It represents a point internal in Europe, between two professed military nations, France and Germany, which have been taxing themselves out of all reason for forty years for the satisfaction of making faces at each other."
"But the people who pay the bills are becoming tired of an expenditure without end, growing by a terrifying geometrical progression, and merely making new problems instead of solving old ones. It is sufficient to recall the recent defeat and resignation of the French ministry. The frankly anti-militarist section united with the business interests, who know the market for the new loan, and how it must be made. They defeated the government on the technical question of imposing an income tax upon the proposed $250,000,000 government loans, but any other issue would have served."
"Since the Panther incident at Asch, when a growl from the British lion expressed not in guns but through the discount market of Germany's foreign customers brought commercial Germany to the foot of the throne in petition for peace, the aristocratic-militarist party has been seeking vainly for some financial basis which would make a war threat valid."
"For two years Germany has been liquidating. She has paid her foreign debts. But she is facing the problem of internal liquidation. When the emperor's bosom friend, Prince Fursberg, is compelled to raise a $5,000,000 loan upon his Baden estates, and the emperor is in the market with palaces for sale, the obvious condition lower down the scale shows what internal liquidation of debts must mean. A credit expansion justified by boom times alone, becomes a tottering edifice when contraction still further narrows its inadequate base. Land banking is all very well when times are good and the burden of taxation is light. But farm mortgages fall due in embarrassing number when business is on the down grade and taxes are imposed not merely upon earnings, but upon capital."
"The crushing defeat of the German administration over the Zabern incident is one more sign that military burdens have become intolerable and that the money markets of the world can lock the barrack door upon the largest armies. There is another and a better way to settle international difficulties. Washington is showing how public opinion can boycott a military dictatorship over seventeen millions of people. War is a matter of money, and money is a matter of credit. Only confidence can bring credit, and the threat of war dries up the source."
"There is a guarantee of peace in the awakening of the French and German taxpayers to their power. Stupendous as modern armaments seem, trade expansion has outgrown them. The denial of credit means starvation and bankruptcy, such as no blockade ever produced. The guarantees of peace are stronger every day. They are not in battleships or battalions, but in the portfolios which contain the instruments of the world's credit."

EARLY SHOPPING.
The time to buy Christmas gifts is not the last day in the afternoon of the day before the holiday, because this period is monopolized by the men, who never know what they want, and who always wait until the last minute to start out on an exploring expedition. They are quick buyers, but usually go home with a lot of stuff that would invite criticism at any other season of the year.
The women of the land are the Christmas shoppers, and the average woman is never in a hurry when out on a shopping expedition. This is especially true when the best kind of financing is necessary to make a meagre allowance meet the long list of Christmas requirements, and it is the strongest argument in favor of early shopping.

The average family lives so close to its income that Christmas always presents a problem which is difficult to solve, and yet the day, so full of good cheer and hallowed associations, means so much to all of us, that we accord cheerful recognition, and often strain a point to meet its financial obligations.
It might help us to remember that the day we celebrate, had its origin in very humble surroundings, and that far more important than the money tribute, is the spirit which the anniversary inspires.
We have been so universally blessed with prosperity, as a people, that money is being freely spent for Christmas cheer. The intelligent shopper prepares a list of friends to be remembered, and then decides at home, as far as possible, what the various presents shall be.
These are valuable aids in shopping and when observed the early buyer is always at an advantage. There are so many shop-worn arguments in favor of early shopping that they hardly need repeating. Better service, a more complete assortment of goods, and relief for tired clerks, are among the most important. If you haven't already commenced the pleasant task, begin tomorrow, and enjoy the advantages of an early buyer.

PRESS COMMENT.
Ridicule Beats Tango.

The New York Mail lets a flood of light in the Hearst insistence on intervention. It says: "The Hearst estate owns more than a million acres of land in northern Mexico. Mr. Hearst is now loudly calling for the occupation of Mexico by the United States army."

In other words our present "progressive" legislators are wiser and more patriotic than future legislators are likely to be, and the laws they make now are good enough for all time. This doesn't look to us like "progressive" doctrine for it implies that "progress" is likely to stop after present lawmakers are politically gathered to their fathers. Well, if more "progress" means more taxes, we will try to bear up if we don't get it—what?—Appleton Post.
On the Spur of the Moment
The Country Editor's Lament.
Only waiting till the rent man Has more distant ground to gain, Only waiting for that sacker, Ere the day of hope has dawn; Till the sound of merry laughter No longer apples in our ear; And we cannot hear his murmur "Here's a dollar for the year."
Only waiting until "thirty" Has been marked upon our tale; Only waiting, watching, praying, Battered, burning at the stake; Trying hard to help the fallen, Wondering where it all will end; That's the reason why we labor, Even though our soul may bend.
Only waiting till the money sharks Have come to claim their own; Till our carcass lies a bleaching On the shores where wrecks are blown.
Then I guess we'll quit our running Country papers any more, For our worries will be ended On that golden sunlit shore.

(From the Moving Picture World)
"The Prisoner of Zenda"
Remarkable Four Part Production by the Famous Players Film Company.
Reviewed by W. Stephen Bush
With this four-part film drama the producers have leaped to the pinnacle of moving picture fame at one gigantic bound. "The Prisoner of Zenda," as shown at the private exhibition in the Lyceum Theater, bears a message of hope and cheer to every friend of the motion picture and vindicates, beyond all cavil, American supremacy in the world of films. We have seen a new standard in dramatic architecture for screen purposes, and we have witnessed an ensemble of American artists, in whom their debut in the new art called forth the very best that was in them. Indeed, before I go any further, let me state right here, that the function of the critic now resolves itself into the difficult it pleases task of a proper and orderly distribution of credits and tributes.
The direction of "The Prisoner of Zenda," I believe, was largely a work of intelligent and enthusiastic co-operation. The skill of a talented, experienced and ardent master of the silent drama is apparent at every turn. Mr. Porter knew the possibilities of his instrument and made the camera's conquest quite complete. He has disarmed and delighted the most captious of critics by the daring but entirely successful use of all those advantages which are peculiar to the motion picture and which the conventional stage can never hope to share. Take but one example. The judicious employment of outdoor scenes knitted the splendid story into a rapid and continuous whole, of which neither novel nor stage can give us even the shadow of a conception.
Let it be made plain that "the new standard" applies to this production from every angle. In the matter of interior settings I can recall nothing finer and more painstakingly finished.
The marvel of the performance was the acting.
No such cast ever showed its varied skill and power on the screen before. Of Mr. Hackett in the leading role it seems scarcely possible to speak with becoming praise. He knew the love of honor and of justice, the English readiness for sport and perilous adventure, the absorbing devotion of a true man to a true woman, the turmoil and intrigue in the mythical kingdom, the loyalty of faithful retainers—all the qualities that account for the response of the popular heart to the appeal in Hope's novel are found in convincing realism on the screen. The fatal American defect of neglecting the cast to make the star shine all the brighter is here conspicuous by its total absence. The ensemble was in every way worthy of the star. It seemed to me that Miss Beatrice Beckley had solved better than most artists who are new on the silent stage the problem of maintaining poise in pantomime. Without that poise, directed by superior art and intelligence, the pantomime is either too mechanical or overacted. Mr. Torrence as Black Michael acquitted himself in a clever manner. Seeing himself he will realize that acting before the camera gains little from over-emphasis in speaking and shouting. Miss Haines was fully equal to the somewhat thankless part of Antoinette. Mr. Hale gave the camera a fine impersonation of Rupert of Hentzau, while the Messrs. Coulter and Randall got all the rich humor and the touches of pathos out of Sapt and Fritz.

Scythe Was a Fixture. Three years ago last summer old Bill Shifflet got an industrious streak on and concluded he would cut some weeds in his back yard. He went to a neighbor's house and borrowed a scythe. When Bill got it back home he was all fagged out and hung the scythe over the limb of a peach tree and told his wife he would wait until morning to mow the weeds. I passed by Bill's house yesterday and the scythe was still hanging over the same limb.—Kansas City Star.

PERCY MERRILL IS HELD FOR STARTING FIRE IN A BOX CAR

Young Man Under Surveillance Since Parole from Mendota, Arrested in Connection with Early Morning Blaze.

Percy Merrill was arrested shortly before noon today on the charge of burning personal property of the St. Paul railroad, and upon being arraigned before Judge Maxfield his preliminary examination was set for Monday morning. His bail was fixed at $1,000 and until arrangements for the same are made, Merrill will be held at the county jail.

About four o'clock this morning it is alleged Merrill hastened down River street toward Milwaukee street and was standing at the corner, that there was a fire in a freight car which was spotted on South River street on the spur track running to the Janesville Machine and Warehouse. An alarm was turned in and the department responded, extinguishing the blaze with the aid of chemicals.

William Foss, watchman for the machine company, reported that he noticed the fire in the freight car with in a short time after it was started. He also saw a man of fairly large build wearing a light overcoat standing by the corner, and as he, the watchman, turned into the street he looked on the other side of the cars, he noticed the fellow start walking down River street. Foss then hurried to the machine company.

Merrill had been at a wedding in the fourth ward last night. It is alleged, and was on his way home. He stayed until the department had put out the blaze. To Patrolman Morrissey he allegedly gave the following statement: "I suppose they think I did this job, but I didn't."

The fire was started with some shavings, splintered wood and a handkerchief, piled against the side of the box car, which was empty.

Young Merrill has been under surveillance since his parole from the state asylum at Mendota during the institution last spring, following his confession to the state fire marshal and district attorney that he was responsible for a series of incendiary fires which had spread terror among property owners last winter.

A meeting of the directors of the Janesville Machine Company was hastily called this morning when the circumstances of the fire were learned, and they urged the police and district attorney to take immediate action.

JAMES DEE ON TRIAL ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Former Janesville Man Faces Trial in Circuit Court at Waukegan, Ill., for Criminal Offense.

James Dee, for many years a resident of Janesville, but now residing at Waukegan, Ill., is on trial in the circuit court at that city charged with a serious offense in which Grace Nubert, aged twelve, the offense for which Dee is held was alleged to have been committed some three weeks ago in a railroad coach in the Northwestern yards at Waukegan.

The trial of this case began this morning and the entire day was spent in securing a jury. At noon but two jurors had been accepted. Dee aided his attorneys in examining the jurors. The girl with her father and mother were in the court room throughout the day.

It is alleged that Dee was intoxicated at the time the alleged crime was committed and this will be used in his defense, it is stated.

Dee has been employed as an engineer between Chicago and Milwaukee on the Northwestern road. He was in the employ of the railroad during his residence in Janesville.

TAXI TURNS TURTLE AND TWO ARE HURT IN NIGHT JOY-RIDE

Helen Semrow and Edward Goodman Injured in Accident on Eastern Avenue.—Five Girls Jump to Escape Wreck.

Helen Semrow, who lives at 320 Washington avenue, is suffering with a badly sprained ankle, and Edward Goodman had several bones fractured in one of his hands as the result of an automobile accident which ended in the demolition of the Ford taxi-cab of the Goodman livery on Eastern avenue late last night.

The other occupants of the car, Joseph Gillespie, who was driving, Margaret Semrow, sister of the injured girl, Margaret and May Doran, whose home is on Ringold street, and Elsie Schumaker, 513 Cherry street, escaped injury in some miraculous manner. The Semrow girl will be confined to her home for several weeks and young Goodman will be unable to use his hand for as long a time.

Patrolmen Thomas Morrissey and Harry Smith, who were called to the scene of the accident, found the car a pile of wreckage in the middle of the road and pushed the car to the roadside. Young Gillespie was found and taken to the police station but was released by orders of Chief Ransom.

It is alleged that the car was being driven at the rate of thirty or forty miles an hour, heading west toward Center avenue. Just how the accident happened was not clear to the occupants of the car, who are probable that the speeding machine struck a rut or a stone and suddenly turned over. Several of the girls evidently realized the danger and jumped before the car turned turtle. The Semrow girl was unable to tell how she was hurt.

It was reported to the police that two of the girls were in the car when it tipped over but it is probable that they jumped in time to avoid being caught beneath the wreckage.

MILITANT METHODS FOUND JUSTIFIED

Judges in Debate at Meeting of Otterbein Brotherhood Vote Two to One for Affirmative.

By a vote of two to one the judges in the debate on the question, "Resolved, that the suffragettes of England are justified in their mode of procedure," held at the meeting of the Otterbein Brotherhood last evening, decided in favor of the affirmative.

The judges were H. D. Claxton, C. H. Howard, and H. H. Chadler. Christ Lohry, Floyd Roberts and Edward Ward upheld the affirmative, and Herman Kramer, W. H. Groat, and J. A. Raught, the negative side.

So much interest was aroused by the debate that it was decided to have another at the next meeting of the Brotherhood. The subject will be, "Resolved, that the high cost of living is caused mainly by the cost of high living." The leaders will be Blanchard Winslow and William Snow. A splendid supper was served by the ladies of the church at seven o'clock.

ALL GIFTS WILL GO TO THE WORTHY POOR

Proper Distribution Assured by Direction of Associated Charities—More Contributions Needed.

All Christmas gifts placed in the hands of the Associated Charities will reach the really worthy poor. No giver need fear that his generosity will be misplaced for this organization knows the conditions and has made arrangements for their distribution.

The Rev. Father Henry Willmann, rector of Trinity church, who has consented to take charge of the Christmas cheer campaign, has chosen nine young ladies who will see the distribution. Contributions can be cash, check, draft, money order, or gift may be mailed or brought to the Gazette office, where they will be properly cared for and turned over to the association.

A start has been made, but gifts should come in more rapidly if all the needy are to be provided. No Janesville child should be deprived with some Christmas cheer.

TO ENTERTAIN LUTHERAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

WEARS DIAMOND FOB GIFT OF AARON BURR

Negro Held by Pittsburgh Police Claims Ancestors Were Personal Servants of Aaron Burr.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—William St. Paul Jasper, an aged negro temporarily detained in the office of the county jail here while friends adjusted a complaint against him, told Warden Edward Lewis that a wonderful diamond watch fob he carried had once been the property of Aaron Burr. His ancestors, said Jasper, had been Burr's personal servants and just before Burr faced Alexander Hamilton in their historic duel he gave the servant the jewel, telling him to keep it. He said, passing it down to his descendants, and it finally came to Jasper, who is a veteran of the civil war and on pension roll for wounds received in battle.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN MALTPRESS

Last Rites for Life Long Resident of Edgerton Held Wednesday Afternoon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Edgerton, Dec. 11.—The funeral of the late John Maltress, who died at St. Augustine's hospital in Chicago Monday morning at eleven o'clock, took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock at the St. Edgerton church. Relatives who were present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. William Butler, Elsworth Rye from Clinton Junction; William Parr from Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Parr, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Maltress, Jean Parr, Rockford, Ill.; George Maltress, Milton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Johnson McGiffin, Mrs. James McGiffin, Janesville; James Conroy, Austin, Minn.; Mrs. H. Christman, Deloit; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Conroy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailer, Mrs. Mary Liley and Mrs. Joseph Liley, Janesville.

Mr. Maltress was born in Edgerton July 21, 1862, and has always made his home here. He married Mary A. Liley Oct. 1, 1884, and she died about four years ago. He leaves to mourn his loss six children, all of whom reside here, except Miss Mattie, who attends school at San Diego, California.

Wane Aspinwall was a Janesville caller yesterday. Henry Johnson returned from Chicago last evening. Mrs. Andrew Jensen went to Chicago this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. J. A. Johnson, who is sick at the Lake View hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Laneroux are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl, born yesterday. Louis Schachtneider went to Bass Lake yesterday where he will spend a few days. Will Burns spent yesterday in Janesville. Bardeen, the photographer of Edgerton, guarantees to finish all portraits taken by December 22. Cloudy weather makes no difference. Having been able to secure extra help can give better service than ever. Phone 176 for sittings now.

SCIENCE NOTES

While in some localities a warfare is being waged against the fly as a pest in France some scientists have been engaged in raising them in great quantities. During the past few years these gentlemen have propagated 40 generations, numbering 400,000 flies. The object of this unusual procedure was for the purpose of determining the possibility of life without germs and the effect of the experiments seem to indicate it is not necessary to animal life. Living in a medium free from microbes and feeding upon specially-prepared food, the specimens do not show any lessening the strength of fecundity. Development from the egg to the imago, at 24 degrees, Cent., lasts for 12 days, and the females commence to lay on the first and second days after hatching. In this way are obtained two generations a month and each generation contains 10,000 flies.

According to the Scientific American the French authorities contemplate the adoption of a law or regulation making it obligatory to provide within an automobile some means whereby the occupants of the car, other than the chauffeur, can bring the car to a stop in case the chauffeur should become unconscious or otherwise disabled from handling the car. Attention has been especially called to the necessity of such an improvement by a recent accident in which a car run over the top of the chauffeur became unconscious, and resulted in the drowning of several children and other passengers of the car. Doubtless the application of such an invention would necessitate the provision of some means to prevent the operation of the safety device except when absolutely necessary.

A Los Angeles merchant is making ingenious use of a magnetic sign to attract the attention of passersby which he is doing with great success. According to one of the papers of that city, the sign is made up of separate units—each for each letter or figure—something after the style of the illuminated signs now used for earlaze calls at theaters and stores. Each unit consists of a sheet of metal which has been perforated with small slots at close intervals, both vertically and horizontally. In each slot there is suspended a small bit of metal, semi-cylindrical in shape and of different color from the background. A sharp jolt or backward movement of the sign cause all of these little pieces of metal to drop through the slots so that they are successively visible from the front. The operator then passes an ordinary horseshoe magnet over the outline of whatever letter he may want to make, and the curved pieces of metal within the influence of the magnet turn outward through the slots. By giving a distinctive color to that side of the semi-cylinder which finally forms the letters, a clear outline is secured. A skillful operator can keep the message pretty well concealed in his hand, so that the mystifying element in the device adds to its value for advertising and window display use.

SPEEDY BATH HEATER

Put First Filled and Then Electric Apparatus Inserted.

Now comes a new way to heat water for the bath. It will be especially handy in hot weather, when there is not the usual supply of hot water on tap. To use this apparatus, which is electrical, first draw your bath, no matter what may be the temperature of the water in the pipes. Then stand the heater in the tub, and, according to the inventor, an Ohio man, you can heat fifteen gallons of water in 15 minutes. The heater is a small nickel-plated device with six tubes radiating horizontally from it. In each tube is a unit and there are 18 perforations in the casing. The water circulates through the heater and comes out boiling, and it does not take long for the bathing fluid to heat the rest. A cord connects the heater with an electric plate or fixture.

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Taken But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 3/4 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money can buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in ginseng and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this form.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HUERTA'S TROOPS LAY DOWN ARMS UNTIL THEY'RE PAID AND FED

Federal soldiers with arms stacked in the City of Mexico.

Many of Huerta's soldiers are deserting him. The picture shows federal troops with arms "stacked" in the Calle Ancha, a street in Mexico City, who refused to fight any longer for the Huerta government until paid and fed. The lack of money to pay off the troops, coupled with the lack of food to properly feed them, is filling the federal ranks with a discontent which is growing stronger and stronger daily.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ESSENTIALS AND NON-ESSENTIALS.

HOW MUCH unhappiness, how vast a waste of energy, what needless friction is caused by the average human being's failure to separate essentials from non-essentials!

According to the opinion of a prominent doctor, every human being has a certain definite amount of energy. As he draws upon it, rest and the recuperative powers of nature fill up the depleted reservoirs; but at the best there is never any too much for the demands of our strenuous modern life, and whenever we use energy in an unnecessary, futile way we take away from our supply of energy to deal with essentials.

The nagging woman is an excellent example of energy wasted through failure to distinguish between essentials and non-essentials.

Her husband has certain habits which disturb her. He smokes too much, he is too late for his meals, he frequently forgets to post her letters; he spends more money than she thinks necessary on magazines. Now the first of these habits is a serious thing, something that ought to be stopped, while the other two are mere annoyances. If she distinguished thus between the essentials and non-essentials, she would concentrate her power of protest upon that harmful habit and made up her mind to say nothing about the less essential things, she might make some impression upon her husband. But she doesn't. Instead she nags him fretfully about one thing after another, diffusing her power of protest over essentials and non-essentials, tiring herself, irritating him, arousing friction, and accomplishing nothing!

A friend of mine is fairly wearing herself out in the effort to exact obedience from her two small children. Another friend who has three little ones seems to manage them quite well without any undue exertion. Once is this. The first woman is constantly saying, "Do this," or "Don't do that," to her babies, and then exhausting herself in trying to enforce obedience to all these commands—many of which are in regard to quite unessential matters. The second mother never gives a command unless it is in regard to something distinctly important. In that case, she always enforces it, but in all unessential matters she lets her children alone. And because she is capable of distinguishing between essentials and non-essentials and acting accordingly, she can manage three babies with far less outlay of energy than the other woman requires for two.

Again, a great many women wear themselves out before their time, and some, I doubt not, even lay down their lives, because they cannot distinguish between the essentials and non-essentials in housekeeping. And I think one big reason why many people fail of happiness in life is simply because they were not intelligent enough to distinguish between what was essential and what was non-essential before they set forth on their quest of success and happiness.

As the reaper winnows the wheat from the chaff, so the wise man soon learns to winnow the essential from the non-essential in every relation of life.

Domestic Science Department

Candies for Christmas.

The making of the fondant was too important an item in candy making not to give detailed directions.

If this is creamy, recipes are hardly necessary as a trip or two to a good candy shop will disclose many varieties of shaping or covering as well as many of the candies, taffies, fudges and cream candies.

After Dinner Bon-Bons.
Put a good sized piece of the fondant into the double boiler, melt and flavor. Have some small pieces of fruit, sections of oranges or fresh strawberries with the hulls left on. Dip each piece of fruit for small segments of the fondant, half only may be dipped. Lift out with a fork and lay on paraffin paper. These are all delicious passed at the close of dinner, as are dates also with the seeds removed and filled with the fondant and an almond pressed down into that. Or mixed chopped nuts may be mixed with fondant and pressed well into the dates and dipped in chocolate.

Royal Bars.
Have the fondant just warm, chop equal parts of figs, raisins, dates, candied cherries, citron and orange peel. Work this into the fondant until it can be pressed into a cake about one inch thick. Cut in bars and set aside to harden. Wrap each piece in paraffin paper.

Nut Brittle.
Set a spider or frying pan over the fire and melt one pound of sugar. Stir constantly, then add three-fourths cup nuts, mix thoroughly and spread on a shallow buttered pan to cool.

Maple Favorites.
Material—Maple or syrup, one pint; milk, one-half cup; pecan nuts, one-half cup; butter, one and one-half tablespoons; vanilla, one teaspoonful.

Directions—Put sugar or syrup, milk and butter over the fire and boil until a soft ball is made, when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, add the nuts and flavoring and stir until it is stiff. They drop in little cakes on paraffin paper. Light brown sugar and hickory nut meats or black walnuts may be used.

Maple Candy.
Material—Granulated sugar, two cups; hot water, one-half cup; butter, one tablespoonful; vinegar, one tablespoonful; cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful; flavoring.

Directions—Put all the ingredients into a sauce pan and boil until brittle when dropped in cold water. Pour on butter and nuts and mix. This should be flavored or tinted while the pulling process is taking place.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THESE are the sins I find. Would have thee take away: Malice and cold disdain. And discontent that casts a shadow gray On all the brightness of a common day.

—Henry Van Dyke.

CULINARY HINTS.

A cheap cut of lamb taken from the breast which weighs about a pound and a half makes an economical meal. Put the meat into boiling salted water and simmer for two hours, with an onion and a stalk of celery added to the water. When tender remove the bones and roll, tie with a string and place in the broiler for a few minutes to brown. Serve with peas or lima beans.

Apples cored and the center filled with bananas cut in strips to fit in the opening, sugar and butter added and a little water, baste while baking, makes a very pleasant way of varying the well-liked baked apple.

Frozen whipped cream, sweetened and flavored then packed for several hours in ice and salt to freeze, served with bits of preserved ginger or a cherry or two is a delicious dessert.

When serving pumpkin pie for extra occasions, heap on whipped cream which has been flavored richly with cream cheese or grated cheese of good flavor.

Pineapple Fritters.—Beat an egg until light, add a cup of milk, a pinch of salt, a tablespoonful of olive oil and sift in a cupful of flour; mix till smooth and glossy, then let stand in a cool place for an hour. Add a teaspoonful of baking powder and drop in a few pieces of pineapple, when they are well covered drop into smoking hot fat. Serve sprinkled with powdered sugar.

Why not recognize that half the relief we have for our food is in the manner of serving and garnishing? The busy housewife will say she hasn't time for frills on dishes; but often she is the very one who puts too many on her daughter's clothing.

Delicious Mocha Cake.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and add three-fourths of a cup of sugar, one egg, yolks, three-quarters of a cup of milk, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, one teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with one cup of flour, and two squares of grated chocolate. Mix well, fold in the white of the egg well beaten. Bake in two layers. Beat together a cup of confectioner's sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two teaspoonfuls of cocoa, a half teaspoonful of vanilla, and two tablespoonfuls of strong coffee. Spread on one layer and cover with the other.

Maple Candy.
Material—Granulated sugar, two cups; hot water, one-half cup; butter, one tablespoonful; vinegar, one tablespoonful; cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful; flavoring.

Directions—Put all the ingredients into a sauce pan and boil until brittle when dropped in cold water. Pour on butter and nuts and mix. This should be flavored or tinted while the pulling process is taking place.

Household Hint

Things Worth Knowing.

Patent leather shoes may be kept in good condition during the cold weather by rubbing them with a little olive oil and polishing with a piece of cotton flannel. This will keep the leather from cracking and the shoes will always appear new.

Celery should lie at least half an hour in cold water or upon ice before serving in order to be firm and crisp.

When boiling cabbage keep a pan with vinegar on the back of the range to kill the odor.

Stuffed olives, chopped fine, mixed with cream cheese and made into balls, are delicious if served with a plain salad.

THE TABLE.

Turnip Croquettes.—Wash pare, and cut in quarters now French turnips. Steam until tender, mash, pressing out all the water that is possible. This is accomplished by wringing in a cheese-cloth. Season one and one-fourth cups with salt and pepper, then add the yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten. Cool, shape by small croquette dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs again, fry in deep fat and drain.

Monte Carlo Salad.—Remove the pulp from four large grape fruits, and drain. Add an equal quantity of finely cut celery, and apple cut in small pieces. Moisten with mayonnaise, pile on a shallow salad dish, arrange around a border of lettuce leaves and mark with mayonnaise. Outline, using green mayonnaise, four oblongs to represent playing cards, and denote spots on cards by stained pimientos or trifles; pimientos cut in shapes of hearts and diamonds, trifles cut in shapes of spades and clubs. Garnish with cold cooked carrots and turnips, shaped small round cutter to suggest gold and silver coin.

Chops on Papilot.—Finely chop the whites of three hard-boiled eggs and force the yolks through a potato ricer, mix and add to the common crackers and roll and sift, then add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, salt, pepper and onion juice to taste. Add enough cream to make of right consistency to spread. Cover the chops thickly with the mixture and wrap in buttered paper cases. Bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Remove from cases. Place on a hot platter, and garnish with parsley.

Cream of Lima Beans.—Soak one cupful of dried beans over night, drain and cook in boiling salted water until soft; drain, add three-fourths cup of cream, and season with butter and salt. Repeat before serving.

Steamed Winter Squash.—Cut in pieces, remove the seeds and stringy portion, and pare. Place in a strainer and cook thirty minutes, or until soft, over boiling water. Mash, and season with butter, salt and pepper. If lacking in sweetness, add a small quantity of sugar.

Snowballs.—One-half cup of butter, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of milk, two and one-quarter cups of flour, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, whites of four eggs.

Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, milk and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder; then add the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Steam thirty-five minutes in buttered cups; serve with preserved fruit, quince marmalade, or strawberry sauce.

Yellow Sauce.—Two eggs, one cup of powdered sugar, three tablespoonfuls of wine; beat the yolks of eggs until thick, add one-half the sugar gradually; beat the whites of eggs until stiff, and gradually the remaining sugar; combine mixtures and add the wine.

Pomona Frappe.—One and one-half cups of sugar, four cups of water, one quart of sweet cider, two cups of orange juice, one-half cup of lemon juice. Make a syrup by boiling the sugar and water twenty minutes. Add the cider, orange juice, and lemon juice. Cool, strain and freeze to a mush.

Condes.—Whites of two eggs, three-fourths cup of powdered sugar, two ounces almonds, blanched, and finely chopped.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

Christmas need not be a time of extravagance, and if Santa must count his pennies there are always many ways of giving attractive or useful gifts that need not mean much outlay of money yet be very acceptable.

One splendid little gift for the woman who sends out her laundry is a laundry list made into a cushion. Cut a square of white cloth, as large as will go into a typewriter, and print a list of articles with numbers up to ten opposite, making as complete a list as you can. Make this into a plain fat cushion, edging it with a row of fancy glass-headed pins. When sorting the linen place a pin in the correct number opposite the article. This is one of the easiest ways to keep a laundry list.

Another useful gift is a bureau pad. Make the pads of pretty material to fit the bureau drawers and sprinkle the cotton interfacing with sachet powder. Bind the edges with wash ribbon and sew various lengths of elastic ribbon strips over the surface under which the many small articles may be slipped. This will keep collars, ribbons, handkerchiefs in place without the trouble of boxes or baskets. For one who travels a ribbon may be securely stitched to the center of the back admitting of the folding and tying of the necker without the contents being disturbed.

Several wash-cloths made from coarse knitting cotton with a small scalloped border may be made in a short time by one accustomed to knitting and they are a practical gift that will find favor in the eye and heart of the receiver as they are a thing that few busy people possess.

Another gift that will cost but little to make and that will call down blessings on your head by a busy mother or a friend that is employed away from home is a box of button-holes. Take strips of white material, you can find them in the average scrap-bag, have them the length for coat-covers, waists or bands for the small people and work button-holes in them of the ordinary size. This may sound like a very simple gift, but it is one that will be highly appreciated, as many of my readers will agree.

A plant, just a slip from one that you have, in a small pot that will cost but a dime is a nice gift for one who likes flowers and will add cheer to the home it enters long after the Christmas days have passed.

One of the real secrets of giving is to know where to place our gifts. We present Mary with a costly neck-piece, when the very soul of Mary is in her books. Study a bit the likes and dislikes of your friends. Remembering that it is not what we give but what we share. Remembering also, the needy one that may be at your gate.

Classified Want Ad?

"Our town is the place to sell those surplus onions, I'll take them in tomorrow," said a man to his wife the other evening. Now this man don't live a thousand miles from here, so for obvious reasons we will leave him nameless.

"Would it not be a wise plan to put off your trip until you run an ad in our paper that you have onions to sell; I study the 'want ad' page daily and it seems it is well patronized; sort of a little clearing-house as it were. Best get in touch with your prospective buyers through its columns."

Mr. Man couldn't see it that way. Accordingly he journeyed to the city the following day and tried to dispose of his onions.

In the vernacular of today it was a case of "nothing doing." He returned home at eve, tired and discouraged; about half of his onions with him.

Then the woman in the case persuaded him to run an "ad." He did so! And before that ad was "killed" he had disposed of his onions and bought his neighbors supply and disposed of them also.

When we all learn, that as far as trying to dispose of anything we have for sale be concerned, the only way to sell is by advertising, we will have taken a long stride in the right direction. Time is saved by this method, and time is the most valuable asset we have. Learn how to save it by using the Want Ad Columns.

Branch Office for GAZETTE AT BAKER & SON.

For the convenience of its patrons and the public generally, the Gazette has established a branch office with J. P. Baker & Son, Drug Store, corner West Milwaukee and Franklin streets.

Copy for classified advertisements, orders for papers, subscriptions and matters of this nature, as well as items of news may be left at the Baker Drug Store, and will receive the same prompt attention as if they were sent direct to the office.

Six years ago today, Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement that he would be a candidate for re-election—December 11, 1907.

To Banish Red Ants.

Get five cents' worth of tartar emelle from the druggist. Mix a little of this with one-fourth as much sugar and add a few drops of water. Stir with a match or toothpick until well mixed. Do not use too much water. A very thick paste is best. Find where the ants enter, put the paste at their entrance and the ant problem will be solved.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper, and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

STATE OF WISCONSIN—CIRCUIT COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY.

Florence E. Schroeder, Plaintiff, vs. Defendant.

The State of Wisconsin to the said Defendant:

You are hereby summoned to appear within twenty days after service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and defend the above entitled action in the Court aforesaid, and in case of your failure to do so, judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the verified complaint, and against the sum of five hundred and thirty-eight dollars and ninety-seven cents ($538.97) damages and costs, which execution was directed and delivered to me as sheriff in and for said county of Rock, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said defendant George Brandt in and to the following described real estate:

Lot number one (1) in block number one (1) in Highland Park Addition to the city of Janesville according to the record of plat thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that I, the undersigned, as sheriff aforesaid, will sell the above described real property to the highest bidder for cash, at public auction, at the west front door of the Court House at the city of Janesville, in the county of Rock and state of Wisconsin, on the 22nd day of January, A. D. 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day to satisfy the said execution, together with the interests and costs thereon.

Dated December 3, 1913.
